Marsha is in the break room having a casual conversation with Rebecca about an upcoming work celebration in the break room when the conversation gets interesting.

1. Hey, Rebecca, are you going to go to the work celebration next month? I heard there will be lots of people, food, and great music
3. What are you talking about? Last year was great and fun. You don't remember Robert showing off those old school moves?
5. Well you may not like the dancing or music at the celebration but I am sure you will like the food.
7. I heard it is southern fried chicken
9. Because everyone loves chicken?

2. No, I think I will pass. I went last year and what you all were doing on the dance floor I would not call dancing.
4. Again you call that dancing, I call that someone having a seizure. No rhythm
6. What are they serving?
8. And why do you think I would like that?
10. I'm Vegetarian.
